The Perfect Cadence

Reed Professional Services help you compose, orchestrate and integrate your Technology and Business Information systems, making sure that your company realizes the maximum value from its investments.

We stay in harmony with our customers by consistently achieving remarkable shared success, deploying the most astute, economical, and effective technology workforce in the country. Our outstanding performance is based on a unique business model that is specifically designed to reduce cost and risk – and the result is that we provide our customers with exceptional financial and non-financial returns when compared with other consulting organizations.

Bravo!

An Orchestrated Approach

Your technology and business system integration projects are intended to give you an advantage in your market sector. If they don't, they're a cost item cacophony.

Composing a business or technology transformation requires a sophisticated approach, orchestrating the right people, possessed of the most incisive intellectual capital, at the right tempo, and in the right time. Reed Professional Services bring harmony to your organization, and the sweet sound of success in every project we deliver.

Con Brio!

The Players

You don't get to play in our orchestra unless you're the best. Our consultants come from the top tier of the independent market, and we simply don't use any beginners or graduates. Practice should be completed before the curtain goes up.

Our affiliated and approved consultants are individual maestros, formed into ensembles when they're needed, disbanded when they're not, so, unlike any of the other major consulting groups, you're not paying for inactive staff. The benchmarked savings are in many cases as much as 50%.

You only pay for the piper when you call the tune.....

Project and Programme Management

Reed's Project Management Practice is conducted by a leadership team who strike just the right note of effective organizational capability, cost control, and quality management.

We deliver measurably enhanced value for money because we rehearse our delivery capability in private, without an audience, thus ensuring that when we perform for our paying customers we deliver the most effective and professional projects in the industry.

We're so confident of our ability, we generally provide fixed price, totally transparent costing on all our major engagements.

Bravissimo!

Ensemble Work Packages

Ensemble Work Packages from Reed are simple to implement, with a transparent cost base and a shared definition of the required outcomes. We agree the deliverables and the time signature, and when everybody is ready, we begin, moving smoothly into the opening theme, through the development, and on to the finale. All parties move through the score in concert, informed and directed by delivery systems that provide all the data required to manage the workstream as rapidly as possible.

Allegro Vivace!

Working With Reed Professional Services

We like to think we're easy to work with, with little in the way of artistic temperament. We also believe that project delivery, and the resourcing of business effort, should be about elegant simplicity based on the close alignment of objectives between customer and supplier. We won't introduce dissonance or make you lose your place in the score – as your business partners, Reed Professional Services are here to provide the accompaniment to your theme, providing a well tempered capability that you can rely on to deliver whilst you get on with the job as leader in your market sector.
